EAST GREENWICH HISTORIC DISTRICT
HISTORIC DISTRICT COMMISSION

APPLICATION INFORMATION

---

WHY DO WE HAVE AN HISTORIC DISTRICT COMMISSION?

The Historic District Commission's (HDC's) primary role is as a regulatory body whose responsibility it is to safeguard the heritage of East Greenwich. This is accomplished under Article XI, Historic Zoning, under the Town's Zoning Ordinance (July 25, 2000). This ordinance seeks to preserve historic districts and structures, stabilize and improve property values, foster civic beauty, strengthen the local economy and promote preservation on behalf of the citizens of East Greenwich.

WHO HAS TO APPEAR BEFORE THE HDC?

The HDC reviews applications for exterior work proposed at properties included in Article XI of the Zoning Ordinance. Work activities considered to be ordinary maintenance and repair which do not alter the external appearance of a structure do not require HDC review. You can paint your building, install storm windows and storm doors, and do routine maintenance without going before the HDC. Also, if you are replacing-in-kind, that is, if you are planning on replacing something like an asphalt shingle roof with another asphalt shingle roof - exactly as it was before, you do not need HDC approval. Generally, if work requires an exterior building permit (such as is the case with new construction, alterations, demolitions, and additions) chances are you will need HDC approval. The Building Official cannot issue a building permit without HDC approval.

HOW DOES HDC REVIEW APPLICATIONS?

In reviewing all applications, the HDC adheres to specific standards which are based upon the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation. Those Standards, as listed below, should be your guide as you prepare an HDC application. If you would like more information on these standards and how they are applied, please contact the Planning Department at 886-8645.

East Greenwich Historic District Commission Standards

The Historic District Commission relies on standards in evaluating proposed changes, additions and demolitions to the exteriors of historic buildings. The Commission will approve applications for Certificates of Appropriateness for work which is appropriate to a property's historic character, its architectural design, and its materials in accordance with these standards. These local standards are based on the Federal Secretary of the Interior's Standards of Review for Historic Rehabilitation.

The following constitutes those standards which the Commission relies on in rendering its decisions:

- 1) Original materials and architectural features shall be maintained or repaired whenever possible, rather than replaced.
- 2) If existing materials have deteriorated beyond repair, the new materials shall match the original in composition, design, texture, and other visual qualities.
- 3) Replacement of missing architectural features shall be based on researched knowledge – demonstrated by the applicant – of their original appearance, substantiated by historical photographs, drawings, or other evidence.
- 4) All proposals for additions and architectural changes shall be appropriate to the original design of the building or to later changes which have historic significance of their own.
- 5) New construction includes substantial additions or modifications to the exterior of existing buildings. The design of new construction need not be an exact or modified copy of historic styles and could be totally different in concept. However, all proposals for new construction shall be compatible with the surrounding buildings in size, scale, materials and siting, as well as with the general character of the historic district.
- 6) Every reasonable effort will be made to protect archaeological resources, such as historic foundations or Native American sites, which are known or are likely to exist in the vicinity of a project.
- 7) Exterior siding must be appropriate for the building to which it is applied. Vinyl and other modern composition sidings which may damage historic buildings are not appropriate and shall not be approved.
- 8) Original window sashes can usually be repaired and retained. In the event that a window sash must be replaced the replacement shall match the original in size, operation, materials, configuration, number of lights, muntin width and profile. Window manufacturers today offer a wide variety of factory-made windows appropriate for installation in historic buildings. Storm windows of appropriate design are also available and should be installed to be as unobtrusive as possible.
- 9) Demolition, either partial or total, shall only be acceptable provided it would significantly benefit the Town, would serve the greater interest of the community as a whole, and that there are no alternatives to demolition available. Demolitions shall not result in a significant threat or loss of an historic and/or architectural resource to the Town, State or nation.
- 10) In reviewing all applications for Certificates of Appropriateness, in light of these standards, the Commission shall weigh into its findings, a building's historical and architectural value.
